DAZZY VANCE TO FACE BARONS IN THIRD OF SERIES

Big Speed Artist Should Be in Rare Form After Rest. Manager Molesworth Has Coffindaffer and Gallagher.

BY BOB PIGUE. BY BOB PIGUE.

Dazzy Vance, he of the flaming locks and the fadeaway ball, will be on the hill for the league-leading Chicks in the third game of the Memphis-Birmingham series at Russwood Wednesday afternoon. Manager Molesworth, of the Barons, will depend upon either Joe Coffindaffer or Pat Gallagher to repulse the Chicks. Bischoff and Peters will be the respective catchers. The game will begin at 4 o'clock.

Gallagher is an ex-Louisville Colonel, and broke into the league by pitching a one-hit game.

Vance has had two full days' rest and should be in form to turn back the Moleymen without any great amount of effort.

CHICKS WIN AGAIN.

When Shortstop Barnhart, of the Barons, booted Jack Lewis' grounder in the eighth inning Tuesday, at Russwood, it broke up a beautiful pitchers' battle between Pat Albris, Memphis right-hander, and John Morrison, starboarder of the Birmingham team, for Carroll sacrificed Lewis to second and after McLarry had fanned, Pug Griffin shot a drive that handcuffed Stevenson, which allowed Lewis to score. The final count was 1 to 0 for Memphis.

The Barons could not touch Albris when hits meant runs.

WINNING RUN SCORES.

The hit Griffin got in the eighth bounced off Stevenson into left field, and Lewis crossed the plate standing up. Sloan finished the inning by forcing Griffin at second.

Morrison allowed the Chicks but four widely scattered hits, no two coming in one frame. Albris was equally as stingy with wallops, the Barons getting but four off his delivery. It is doubtful, however, if ever a club hit as many balls on the nose as did the Barons Tuesday. They hit drive after drive that landed squarely in some waiting Chick's hands, and the support accorded Pat saved his hide on several occasions.

Morrison's greatest pitching feat oc-curred in the sixth inning. The Chicks had the bags loaded with nobody out, and still never scored. Carroll beat out a bunt and McLarry walked. Griffin bunted and Morrison played the ball to third, with Stevenson dropping his throw, filling the bags. Sloan hit to Morrison, who tossed to the plate, re-tiring Carroll, and Peters three out Sloan at first. High ended the in-ning by grounding out, Morrison to Bernsen.

The Chicks had many opportunities to score before pushing over the run that meant the game. In every round except the seventh, when they went out in order, they had runners on the

BARONS THREATEN.

In the first round with two gone Bernsen singled to left and took second when Griffin let the ball go through his props. Ellis was tossed out by Lewis. In the second Griffith opened with a single through the box. Meeks shot a drive toward right that Mc-Larry caught standing on the bag doubling Griffith, unassisted. In the third Peters was safe on High's boot and Morrison bunted him to second, but Stewart and Stevenson couldn't deliver. In the fifth, with two gone, Peters doubled to left, but Morrison fanned. The remainder of the way the Barons went out in order, so effective was Albris' pitching, and so phenomenal was the support his mates accorded him.

MANY LADIES THERE. It was ladies' day and the largest out-ouring of fragile fans of the season were in the stands.

Mrs. F. Greenwald, giving her address as the Chisca, guessed nearest the attendance and will receive a season pass to all remaining games at Russwood.

Mrs. Greenwald guessed 3,361, and the attendance was 2,349.

Manager John J. McCloskey watched he game from the stands, serving out is five-day suspension in citizen's lather

Capt. Polly McLarry got back into the game Tuesday and played a fine brand of ball on the door.

BARONS OUT OF LUCK.

The Barons bit in hard luck though-out the game. While practically every Baron who came up hit the ball on the nose, the pill always landed squarely in some waiting Tribesman's hands. Fans were expecting the Birmingham-mers to start on a batting rampage at any time, but Albris and his mates man-aged to hold them till the end.

It is seldom that a club fills the bases with none out, and then fulls to score, but the Chicks did it Tuesday in the sixth.

From the viewpoint of Chick fans it was rotten baseball, but from the other point of view, it was brilliant pitching by Morrison to pull out of such a hole.

Tod Sloan and Andy High were up here with runners aboard, but couldn't there with runners muster the punch.

Hittin' 'em where they ain't is the way ball games are won. The Barons hit 'em where the Chicks were and lost

John Morrison pitched great ball in the face of heart-breaking support. Pour errors were committeed behind him, and the last one took the decision

Pat Albris pitched the best game he has uncorked since he has been a Triesben. He had perfect control, and laid the ball in the groove and lei the Barons slam it out. He didn't walk a batter and fauned two of the visitors.

The error that Barnhart made in the fatal eighth that gave Jack Lewis a life, with Jack eventually scoring, was an easy chance, and Lewis should easily have been extinguished at first.

In the sixth, when the Tribe had the bags drunk and nobody out, most any kind of baseball would have scored at least one tally, but the Chicks wanted to make a pile of runs and consequently didn't get any.

Other clubs use the squeeze play as a run-getter in tight games when one run will win the ball game, but the Chicks can't see it as a tally producer.

The hit-and-run is another good play that is never used.

However, who can criticize the Chicks? They are leading the league and winning steadily, which, after all, is what counts.

Results speak for themselves, and McCloskey has been getting said re-sults.

What's a World's Series To Boston After This Orgy?

Joe Oeschger, above, and Leon Cadore.

The Braves and the Red Sox may fail to bring any kind of a pennant to Beantown this summer, but the fans there saw more real baseball in the short space of three days recently than the towns that land the October classic may see.

We refer to May 1-2-3.

Had the members of the Brave and Brooklyn Dodger teams known what was in store for them on the first day they'd have rolled out of bed and remarked, "Nothing to do but play three games of ball today that don't get un any place except in the hall of fame." For that afternoon the two clubs hooked up in a battle that lasted 26 innings and ended in a 1 to 1 tie. The game set a world's record.

The Braves had a day off on the next day, while the Dodgers rushed home to Brooklyn and played a 13-inning game with the Phils, losing it by one run. The next day the Braves and Dodgers began where they had left off and went 19 innings before the Braves with the winning run and copped 2 to 1. In other words, Boston saw 45 innings of ball in three days in which just five runs were scored—the equivalent of five 1 to 8 games.

Chicks because of his failure to report this year.

The Chicks could use Blodgett very handily. Manager McCloskey had counted on him, and figured on carrying two left-handers this season. But Boldgett decided to stick around the family fireside, and failed to show up at Russwood when the call to gloves and bats was sounded.

President Watkins figured that he might be able to persuade Blodgett to report if he went out and talked things over with him. So Watso is out there today.

Everybody connected with the Memphis club from President Watkins to Jake the Batboy, has been bitten by the pennant-bug, and no stone will be left unturned to bring the Tribe in ahead of the field this season.

Chief John J. McCloskey, of the Chicks, although serving in the role of the innocent bystander as the result of a suspension of five days tacked upon him by President John D. Martin, of the Southern league, Monday, feels very much elated over the Monday and Tuesday games the Chicks won from the Barons. The Chick chieftain naturally is glad the Tribe won, but the happy part of it is that both Pat Aibris and Tiny Goodbred have delivered some real gilt-edge moundwork. The Chicks need good pitching and they have gotten it in the past couple of days. Chief McCloskey has been troubled over the pitching outlook, but be lieves that his worries for the most part are over.

TOM AFTER TOM.

Hughle Canavan, Chick left-hander, who is nursing a sprained left wrist, expects to be able to return to the mound by next Sunday, and will probably face the Atkanta Crackers in the Sunday matinee here.

A double-header will be the attrac-tion for the fans next Monday, which will be Memoriai day. The Chicks will meet the Atlanta Crackers in a twin affair.

BABE GOES AHEAD.

Babe Ruth evidently figures on keeping out in front among the home run hitters. Just as soon as Happy Felsch, of the White Sox, tied him in the number of circuit diouts, along course Ruth and chalks up another which gives him a margin of one over Happy.

a margin of one over Happy.

Polly McLarry, Chick first-sacker, tried hard to slam the ball over the right field fence in the eighth inning of Tuesday's Baron-Chick game, and, as a matter of fact, he did lose one of the leather apples, but it went over the wall about four feet foul.

And then Polly struck out, much to als dismay, for he had figured on breaking up John Morrison's little party then and there.
